AT THE DECEMBER MEETING

Our last meeting of the year brought out a large and lively group in spite of its being "that busy season." Directions and forecasts for '93 were the major topic of the day. We have voted to extend our boundaries in publicity and advertising with more positive efforts starting early in the new year. We will continue to work on necessary restructuring of the organization to accommodate a new and broader outlook for serving the community's interest in the traditional quality of the contemporary art scene. Charles Turnbull is the new Public Relations chairman ready to meet this challenge.

Chairman Bill Kusche reported the Holiday Show as well received and well attended, along with the special evening program by Al Vetromile on the Plains Indians. Throughout the galleries, we enjoyed the Christmas greens provided by the Duck River Garden Club.

The year end financial report from Treasurer Ed Moran leaves us with an optimistic view for '93.

ARTISTS AT WORK

Through the 24th of December, HELEN SCHINK will be showing oils and pastels NEW ENGLAND THROUGH THE SEASONS at the Pratt-Wright Gallery in Noank, Tues. thru Sat., 11 to 5pm.....At Friends & Company in Madison, the work of PAM NELSON, SADIE DEVORE and others is on view thru January 5th.
